Nicholas Smith is a partner in the Washington, DC office and a member of the firm's Global Corporate Group and the Technology Practice.

Primary Focus & Experience

With more than 20 years in practice at Milbank, Nicholas is an industry-leading expert across a wide range of transactions centering on technology, services and data. He has played leading roles in advising clients on numerous prominent transactions.

Notably:

- CVS Health on efforts to integrate Pharmacare and Aetna to capture synergies following CVS Health's industry-altering acquisitions of those companies;
- Credit Suisse on numerous projects to transform its IT and operations, including an innovative transaction to transform the bank's securities trading technology and operations;
- Astellas on a series of interrelated IT services and business process outsourcing transactions spanning the Japanese pharmaceutical company's global footprint;
- Molina Healthcare on a series of interrelated outsourcing and licensing transactions to implement major technology transformation across the organization; and
- Radisson on a project to transform the company's IT systems and data management to enable more, and more effective, customized customer experiences.

Nicholas's practice centers on a range of transaction types, including:

- Technology and services procurement and management, including large and complex international outsourcing transactions;
- Corporate transformation initiatives;
- Strategy and execution regarding information security, data protection/privacy and the use of data as a strategic asset;

- Intercompany services and affiliate transactions, including where such transactions form critical components of structured finance transactions and corporate restructurings;
- Corporate separation and transition to effectuate M&A transactions, including complex international asset carve-out transactions requiring expertise in IT, operations, personnel management, commercial contracts, supply chain management, risk management and regulatory compliance best practices.

Nicholas has advised clients ranging across a wide range of industries, with particularly deep experience in outsourcing (including both IT outsourcing and business process outsourcing), financial institutions and financial services, private equity, insurance, healthcare and pharmaceuticals.
