Martin Brennan is a partner in the New York office of Milbank and a member of the firm's Alternative Investments Practice.

Primary Focus & Experience

Mr. Brennan has extensive experience advising across a wide range of structured credit asset classes in both the US and European markets, with his practice centering primarily on CLOs, private credit financing structures and esoteric ABS transactions.

In addition, Mr. Brennan advises sponsors on a variety of related corporate transactions, including M&A, fund financing, rated note transactions and fund establishments.

Previously based in Milbank's London office, Mr. Brennan has a particular focus on the impact of regulatory changes on the CLO and securitization markets, offering expertise on frameworks such as the US Risk Retention Rules, the Securitization Regulations, CRR and AIFMD.

Recognition & Accomplishments

Mr. Brennan often speaks at industry conferences and has published numerous industry client alerts including on the Marketing Rule changes under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 and on the European Commission's clarifications on the scope of the EU Securitization Regulation.
